Online member sessions

On Monday 27 November, from 20:00h to 22:00, the next online session will take place, provided by Michiel Schuijer and John Koslovsky. They will give a presentation on the book "Music Performance Encouters", on which they have been working as editors. This book will be published in the end of November 2023.

On Monday 22 January, from 20:00h to 21:00h, Ingrid Roig and Orsolya Toldi will present a new publication for music education "Muziek leer je zo!". For a first impression, see: https://muziekleerjezo.nl/

The online member sessions will take place via Zoom. An e-mail with the Zoom link and more information about the next lecture has been sent by Ralf Pisters on 15 November.

Mart. J. Lürsen prize

The reading committee will soon start assessing the theses submitted for the Lürsen Prize. The results will be announced to the participants in January 2024. The official announcement and presentation of the prize will take place during the association's anniversary conference, on 1-3 March 2024. In addition to the prize money of €500, the winning student will also get the opportunity to present the thesis during the conference.

DFSMT Anniversary Conference - 'Off the beaten track' 1 - 3 March 2024

In a few months' time, the 25th Anniversary Conference of the DFSMT will take place at the Conservatorium van Amsterdam. We are delighted to announce that Thomas Christensen, musicologist and professor at the University of Chicago, as well as author of many articles and books on music theory, will be attending as keynote speaker. Moreover, because of the association's anniversary, the board is still exploring the possibility of a second keynote speaker. Further information on this will be reported on the website soon. (https://www.dfsmt.net/)

The submission deadline for the call for papers has now passed, so the reading committee will start reading the submissions soon. It promises to be a festive anniversary with many diverse topics. Besides the lectures, the annual general meeting will also be held during the congress. Hereby a reminder to note the dates 1-3 March in your calendar.